

Colorado Mountain Club Executive Director Search Update:

As reported by Matt Biscan, President of the CMC State Board of Directors, a Search Committee consisting of CMC Board members, CMC Foundation, and CMC group representatives has been formed to manage the Executive Director candidate review process.

The ED position has been posted on the CMC's website (CMC.org), the Colorado Nonprofit Association website, and the EFL Associates website. Applications from over twenty-five interested parties were received and carefully reviewed by Search Committee members. A highly qualified subset of this total number will be interviewed by Committee members over the course of the next few weeks.

From these initial face-to-face interviews, the candidate field will be narrowed to a smaller field of finalists who will then be invited to make a presentation to the CMC Board, Group representatives, CMC Foundation representatives and other CMC stakeholders. The Search Committee hopes to announce the date for formal presentations by the finalist candidates by mid-July.

In the meantime, Holly Barrass continues to very capably fill the position of Interim Executive Director, in addition to her Education Director duties, under the direction of the Executive Committee of the Board.
